While FANGORIA RADIO currently remains on hiatus, the folks at Sirius XM Radio have been running some of our best and bloodiest shows every Friday night (heard 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. EST, with a second broadcast right after), hosted by Dee Snider, Debbie Rochon and Tony Timpone. Tonight’s show highlights:

• Sheri Moon Zombie (pictured) talks about the making of the HALLOWEEN films and working with husband Rob Zombie.

• Indie director Jennifer Lynch, daughter of David, gives us uproarious insight into her creepy sleeper SURVEILLANCE.

• DISTRICT 9 director Neill Blomkamp and star Sharlto Copley tell Fango’s Michael Gingold all about the creation of their surprise sci-fi blockbuster.

• And what’s FANGORIA RADIO without actor Thomas Jane chiming in? The HUNG/THE MIST star always proves to be an unforgettable talker every time he joins the show!

You can listen to FANGORIA RADIO over the Internet for just $12.95 per month; for information and to sign up for Sirius XM, click here ! Or to sign up for a free seven-day pass to listen to FANGO RADIO and other great Sirius programming, go here . You can also find a ton of great FANGO RADIO highlights on iTunes; these free audio clips are listed in the iTunes Store under the Podcasts tab, so simply search for FANGORIA. It has never been easier to get your horrifying fright fix.

{jcomments on}