McFarlane Toys gave a first look at their upcoming THE WALKING DEAD action figures: Daryl Dixon, Zombie Walker and Zombie Biter.

Here's the rundown on the figures, which appeared on AMC's WALKING DEAD blog :

Daryl Dixon — An abrasive survivalist, and brother of the outspoken racist Merle, Daryl Dixon (Norman Reedus) is an all-new character created specifically for the AMC TV series. The figure comes with a crossbow, hunting knife, fire axe, pick axe and a string of squirrels.

Zombie Walker — The Zombie Walker, clad in a dirty business suit, was encountered by Rick Grimes during his first excursion into Atlanta. Upon Rick's arrival, the walker rose from the wreckage of a city bus and followed Rick to an abandoned tank. The Zombie Walker comes with a special wind-up feature, so the undead figure can actually walk!

Zombie Biter — Found feeding on a deer in the forest near the survivors' camp, the Zombie Biter was beheaded by the group—but didn't stop until Daryl arrived and shot it in the brain with his signature crossbow. The figure features a deer meat accessory and a spring-loaded moving jaw—this Zombie Biter really bites!

Also coming is an action figure based on Rick Grimes (not pictured). All four of THE WALKING DEAD figures will be available for purchase this November. Click here to visit the McFarlane Toys website.
