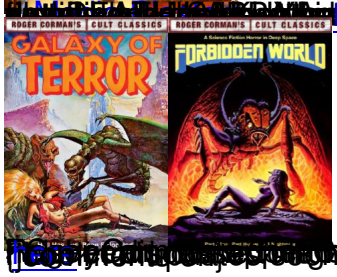
• Invincible Pictures gave Fango first word on the details of the DVD release of THE BURNT HOUSE, a new chiller from writer/director Adam Ahlbrandt (who previously scripted and helmed SIGHT). The disc is set to arrive July 16.

J.D. Brown, Monica Knight, Jon Reiss and Philip Raymond story in this story of Megan and Joe, a couple devastated by the death of their baby son, which has led Megan to have an affair. After Joe’s mother subsequently dies, the two move to his remote childhood home to attempt a fresh start, but strange occurrences and the unearthing of dark secrets get in the way of their recuperation. The movie will be presented in 16x9-enhanced widescreen with Dolby Digital 2.0 stereo, accompanied by a making-of featurette and the trailer. Retail price is $19.99. You can see THE BURNT HOUSE’s official website here .

• Genre jack of all trades Johnny Legend sent along the news that he’s giving the James Landis/Arch Hall Jr. cult favorite THE SADIST its Blu-ray debut. Available at eBay now and Amazon.com soon, it’s a two-disc set that includes the Blu-ray, which sports a brand new high-definition transfer from the original 35mm master print, and the previously issued DVD with a Hall interview, Legend’s reflection on the movie and more. Written and directed by Landis, THE SADIST stars Hall as a psychopath who terrorizes three stranded motorists at an old junkyard, and features early cinematography by Oscar-winner Vilmos Zsigmond.

here



ROGER CORMAN'S CULT CLASSICS
GALAXY OF TERROR
ROGER CORMAN'S CULT CLASSICS
FORBIDDEN WORLD

here