Whether you're hitting the theater or checking it out On Demand (thanks to IFC Films), there's no doubt THE HUMAN CENTIPEDE is an experience. And Fango is happy to help you delve even deeper into that sickening, depraved experience with a series of video interviews (the first of which you can see here) with writer/director Tom Six and star, the mad doctor himself, Dieter Laser. Read on for the chat with Laser!

"During a stopover in Germany in the middle of a carefree roadtrip through Europe, two American girls find themselves alone at night when their car breaks down in the woods. Searching for help at a nearby villa, they are wooed into the clutches of a deranged retired surgeon who explains his mad scientific vision to his captives' utter horror. They are to be the subjects of his sick lifetime fantasy: to be the first to connect people, one to the next, via their gastric system, and in doing so bring to life 'the human centipede'."

In the below clip, the film's star and villain talks up being sold on the film and creating such a memorable character.

{flv}hc02{/flv}

Currently, THE HUMAN CENTIPEDE is available On Demand and in limited release at New York City's IFC Center, but this Friday May 7th it expands to these cities:

Music Box Theatre - Chicago, IL

Landmark's Uptown - Minneapolis, MN

Landmark's E Street - Washington, D.C.

Landmark's Nuart - Los Angeles, CA

Landmark's Esquire - Denver, CO

Cinema 21 - Portland, OR

Landmark's Bridge - San Francisco, CA

Landmark's Inwood - Dallas, TX

Landmark's River Oaks - Houston, TX

Alamo Ritz - Austin, TX

For more info you can head to the IFC Films official site , and check back tomorrow for the next in our series.

{jcomments on}