Too many bodies in your trunk? Apocalyptic acid rain left your car dull and dingy? Grave dirt-encrusted tires from too many cemetery excursions? Let the lovely, livid lads and ladies behind the now legendary Toronto Zombie Walk give your wreck the old bloody spit and putrid polish!

On Sunday, August 19th, The Toronto Zombie Walk will be holding its 3rd Annual Zombie Car Wash: Bloods'N'Suds.

The event runs from 12-6 p.m. at The Classic Coin Wash (1247 College St) on the corner of Lansdowne and College in Toronto. All proceeds go to paying costs to run The 2012 Toronto Zombie Walk.

Says TZW founder and overlord Thea Munster: “Our Zombies aren’t picky, so come down and bring your car, bike, or any other modes of transportation (including your own severed feet) to be washed by our undead experts! Or come in walking corpse form and give us a severed hand…”

Don’t have a car? You can still help out the Toronto Zombie Walk by stopping by and picking up one of their lethal new t-shirts, or sampling some tasty gory treats courtesy of our good fiends at Dusk (552 Queen Street West).

• Vehicle Wash $10

• Blood Treatement (Zombies will wash the car in blood and normal wash, you can determine which wash you want first) $15

Be there or be dead…again!
