Details of the selected theatrical release of the brutal thriller GODSPEED were recently revealed, and Fango just got info that a few of the movie's New York City screenings will play host to Q&As by talent from the film as well.

GODSPEED opens this Friday, March 26 at NYC's Cinema Village (22 East 12th Street), and the 7:15 p.m. show will be introduced by director Robert Saitzyk and actress Jessie Ward, along with The New York City Horror Film Festival's

Michael Hein. There will be a Q&A after the movie, and also following the 7:15 and 9:30 shows on Saturday the 27th and the 5 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. shows on Sunday the 28th. Los Angeles audiences will be able to see GODSPEED when it opens April 9 at the Laemmle Sunset 5 (8000 Sunset Boulevard), also with cast/crew appearances, and the movie will play Anchorage, Alaska's Bear Tooth Theatre (1230 West 27th Avenue) starting April 16. More playdates will be announced in the near future.

GODSPEED, directed by Saitzyk from a script by Cory Knauf based on a story by Knauf and Joseph McKelheer (his co-star in the Butcher Brothers' THE HAMILTONS and upcoming THE VIOLENT KIND), stars the latter two along with Ward, Courtney Halverson and veteran actor Ed Lauter in the story of a modern faith healer whose spirit is broken when his family is viciously murdered. Cutting himself off from society, he is visited six months later by a young woman seeking help with her own family troubles, which only leads to more violence. See release updates and further info at the movie's official website and Facebook page, and read more about GODSPEED in Fango #292, on sale this month.
