There's guaranteed to be plenty of madness at San Diego Comic-Con 2011, but none, absolutely none, will be as blood spattered and gore soaked as this. FANGORIA and Image Entertainment present the world premiere of CHROMESKULL: LAID TO REST 2; an unveiling of the unrated sequel that's absolutely free for horror fans to attend! Head below for details!

The night gets underway at 9:45 p.m. on Friday, July 22nd at the Gaslamp 15 (701 5th ave, San Diego, CA) with writer/director/FX wizard Rob Hall on hand for a post-screening Q&A. To get in, send an e-mail to FANGORIAScreening@gmail.com with the subject, CHROMESKULL. Be aware that seats are first come, first served and not guaranteed, so do show up a bit early.

CHROMESKULL: LAID TO REST 2 picks up three months after we last left ChromeSkull (Nick Principe) at the end of the original Laid to Rest. Tommy (Thomas Dekker), who's struggling to come to terms with his encounter with the masked killer, has now gone missing courtesy of the maniacal Preston (Brian Austin Green), a mysterious player in the sequel with a sinister connection to ChromeSkull. Meanwhile, our killer has set his sights on a new girl, Jess (Mimi Michaels), and after the young girl disappears, Detective King (Owain Yeoman) must race against the clock to find her and Tommy before it's too late and try to put an end to ChromeSkull's deadly legacy.
